THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Ovation to Grant by the House and Senate.

Congress Asked to Investigate the Recent Money Deal in New York.

Senate: Booth Denies a Recent Alleged Interview—Outline of Measures Reported Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Dec 16.—The ovation given to Gen Grant to-day by both houses of congress was alike unprecedented and unpremeditated. He came to the capitol to see a few friends privately, but soon after he entered the senate chamber with Senator Logan and Gen Beale and quietly took a seat on a sofa in one corner he became the observed of all observers, and Senator Edmunds impromptu motion that a recess of ten minutes be taken for the purpose of doing honor to the ex-president was manifestly timely as well as appropriate because fully one-third of the senators on the republican side of the chamber had already left their seats and gone over to speak with him. The adoption of the resolution was quickly followed by a hearty hand shaking of Gen Grant by all the remaining republican senators and all the democrats except four or five. The ex confederates who kept aloof were Vest of Missouri and Walker of Arkansas. The subsequent ovation in the house of representatives was attended with sundry amusing incidents. General Grant entered the hall in company with Congressman Fort of Illinois, who he accidently met in the corridor, and General Beale went in with Blount of Georgia. Fort leaving the three in the rear of the hall presently rose in his seat and offered the motion for a recess similar to that which the senate had taken for the same purpose. Immediately upon its adoption there was a rush for the obscure corner where Grant was modestly chatting with some friends and the ex president for a few moments was almost crushed to the wall by the enthusiastic crowd, but Speaker Randall with ready tact came to his rescue and walking arm in arm with him to the space in front of the clerk's desk, they took the positions usually occupied by the tellers when the house divides upon a vote and then the members filed between them each one giving Grant a handshake while Randall did the honors of formal presentation. Many of course needed no introduction and among the number Physter, of Kentucky, forgetting the crowd behind him placed both hands on the general's shoulders and commenced a leisurely talk with him about old times like the man at the White House in Mark Twain's story, which he continued for several minutes until his laughing colleagues by main force shoved him forward. All the members except about twenty, nearly all northern democrats thus passed between the general and the speaker and then the clerks and pages of the house fell into line and obtained their share of the handshaking. Several of the little fellows not content with one shake proved themselves to be able repeaters by running round to the end of the line again and when detected in this fraudulent fraud there was merriment around in which the ex-president and speaker of the house of representatives laid aside their dignity and smilingly participated. Gen. Grant will leave Washington to-morrow morning for New York.

The New York Money Deal to be Investigated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—A joint resolution has been prepared and will in a few days be introduced in both houses for the appointment of a special committee to take testimony and investigate the method used in New York to manipulate the money market and of enforcing arbitrary and artificial rates of interest in excess of the legal rates of the state. A prominent national bank in New York city has been an active participant in creating a stringency. In explanation of this, among other things, it is said that parties in control of bonds anticipating a republican defeat at the presidential election sold short some twenty millions of old bonds at 103 below present rates.

South Misrepresented.

Senator Booth says that the statements attributed to him in an alleged interview recently published by the Washington National Republican telegraphed to California concerning the senatorial contest, were manufactured by the writer of the "interview," from a few casual remarks made in a private conversation, which were either imperfectly understood or intentionally misrepresented and that he, therefore without entering into specifications, pronounces the alleged utterances unauthorized and untrustworthy.

Statements by the Nicaragua Canal People

WASHINGTON, Dec 16.—General Grant enters into the Nicaragua scheme with more enthusiasm than before, and in a conference to-day with supporters of the Nicaragua company the opinion was expressed that acceptance of the Panama chairmanship by Secretary Thompson has given an impetus to the rival scheme and will ultimately injure rather than benefit DeLesseps. General Grant will soon publish over his own name, an article giving a sketch of the various canal surveys and warmly supporting the Nicaragua project. It is now claimed that the subscriptions to DeLesseps' canal bonds came mainly from the King of Belgium, who is very wealthy and a sort of patron of DeLesseps, and who was a heavy investor in the Suez canal. Nicaragua promoters also claim that pretended subscriptions in this country are for the most part made up of transfer subscriptions from Paris subscription books.

Appointments for Idaho.

WASHINGTON, Dec 16.—The president nominated Theodore F. Singizer of Pennsylvania, secretary of Idaho, and Edward F. Champlin of Michigan, receiver of public moneys.

Bill to Increase the Retired Rank of Gen Ord

WASHINGTON, Dec 16.—A bill introduced in the senate to-day by Maxey, for the relief of Gen. Ord, recites in the preamble that at the date of Ord's retirement from the service he had served his country in the army honorably, efficiently and continuously for more than 40 years. His services when in command of the military department of Texas are also referred to as of great importance and value and especially in bringing comparative peace to the disturbed frontier. It is therefore proposed to authorize the president to place Gen Ord on the retired list according to his brevet rank with the pay and emoluments of a major general of the army on the retired list.

Greenback Caucus

An informal caucus of the greenback members of the house of representatives was held to-day, the main objects being to devise methods for extending their party organization throughout the country and decide on a plan of united action in opposition to the pending funding bill, also the line of action to be pursued in regard to other measures now pending before the house of representatives and which they may endeavor to bring before it, such as interstate commerce. The national bank question and unlimited coinage of silver were also considered. No definite action was reached, and after authorizing General Weaver to call another meeting the caucus adjourned.

The Holiday Recess

The resolution passed by the house providing for a holiday recess of 14 days from the 22d inst. will encounter some opposition in the senate, but it will undoubtedly be agreed to by that body without any amendment except possibly a shortening of the time two days, fixing next Thursday as the date for adjournment and the first Tuesday of the New Year for reassembling.

The Rights of Married Women to Acquire Land Defined.

The secretary of the interior to-day decided that a married woman whose husband is still living but who has exhausted his right under the laws can make an entry and acquire a title in her own right under the desert land act. This decision of Secretary Schurz is based upon the broad ground that a woman is a citizen just as truly as man is and as the laws in question provide for entries of desert lands simply by citizens of the United States, the enjoyment of its benefits cannot properly be restricted to male citizens.

The McGarrahan Claim.

The house public land committee to-day informally discussed the McGarrahan claim. There is no probability of action upon it by either branch of congress during the present session.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

[illegible] a bill authorizing the president to place [illegible] on the retired list [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] general.

The [illegible] bill was received from the house and referred to the committee on appropriations. Also a joint resolution for adjournment from [illegible] to [illegible] January 5th.

[illegible] petition from [illegible] woman suffrage [illegible] the territories [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] answer worthy the name [illegible] arguments.

The morning hour having expired the educational bill came up again.

Teller approved the purpose of the bill but proposed to materially amend it. He showed that the bounty [illegible] the bill were the southern states where there was the most illiteracy. There were perhaps 5,000,000 children of the age contemplated in those states and interest of the proceeds referred to if distributed yearly among them would give only about seven cents apiece to these children, an amount practically useless. He favored devising from the principal at once to the establishment of schools so that the present generation could be educated therewith. Illiteracy [illegible] would slowly decrease from year to year but not appreciably faster on account of the small aid proposed. The wise policy was to make it possible for every child to be educated at once. The evil was one of to-day more than of to-morrow. He [illegible] the appropriation of part of this money to colleges, and wanted it all to go to the support of the common schools, where the poor could get a practical education.

Hoar defended the bill in opposition to Teller's suggestions.

[illegible] advocated the bill in a written speech, saying that he would not so early in his career attempt to influence the action of the body were not the subject of such vital importance and especially to that part of the country which he in part represented. A centralized government rested upon the fear and suspicion of the people and their subordination. A republican and representative government rested upon confidence and trust in the people and their intelligent cooperation, hence the importance of measures looking to popular enlightenment. Slavery and the results of civil war has incorporated into the population of the southern states over four and a half millions of colored people who without their fault are manifestly disqualified by ignorance from exercising intelligently the right of suffrage and the burden of the duties of citizenship. Mutual distrust and fear of the north and south are chargeable mainly to ignorance, ignorance of the real feeling and dispositions and purposes of the business of law making and civil administration. The people of the south have been comparatively united in their voting power for no object or purpose unfriendly to the rights and interests or pursuits of any section or of any people, white or colored. They have been and are comparatively solid for self defense and self preservation against the unfounded distrust by a majority of their fellow countrymen of the north. The dire evils that have followed and must again follow the dominion of ignorance in state governments in the south are the unavoidable and unalterable results the war has made. My convictions are deep and unconquerable that the highest interests and greatest safety and prosperity of the people of the south are to be found in harmonious consulting nationality, not the nationality resulting from a centralized government but nationality secured by fidelity to the constitution with all its delegations, propositions and limitations of power and to the promotion of the great objects recited in its resolutions for the formation of our indissoluble union of indestructible states. No legislation within the range of the constitutional power of congress can be more uniformly beneficial than that proposed by this bill.

Garland also supported the bill.

Vest declared himself an earnest champion of universal education but thought it a matter for the states. He claimed in this respect to share views expressed by the president-elect.

Senator Edmunds here with permission of Vest announced Gen. Grant and recess was by unanimous consent taken for ten minutes and senators of both parties gathered about the ex-president, who sat in the rear of the hall. After this had been done Vest resumed.

Hill next expressed dissent from Vest's view. The bill infringed on no right of the states. His only objection was the inadequacy of the amount.

Maxey advocated the bill as a common sense plan of education. The federal government had made the negroes citizens and should educate them.

Eaton objected to the rate of interest (4 per cent) on the fund, for the government could borrow a thousand million dollars at 3 per cent.

Hill and Maxey thought the government could well afford to pay that interest in view of the destination of the money.

Morgan spoke warmly in favor of the admission of women to colleges established under this bill. He too argued that the establishment of technical schools might lead to the employment of large numbers of women in the manufacture for instance, of jewelry in California where gold abounds, of silver ware and trinkets in Colorado where silver is produced, in the sampling of cotton in [illegible], a work requiring great delicacy of touch, and all improvements in the business of cooking and nursing. Thus fields of light, elegant and useful employment would be opened to women. The technical education of women would make them independent and would tend to the elevation of both sexes.

No vote on the bill was reached when the senate adjourned.

House

Wood reported a concurrent resolution for a recess from the 22d of December to the 5th of January; agreed to 175 to 74.

The house went into committee on the pension appropriation bill.

Hubbell said that it appropriated the exact amount of the estimate $50,000,000. He said that when the bill for arrearages of pensions was before the house it was stated that it would require only $1,000,000. The government had already paid up to November 1st, $37,000,000, the average being $960 per pensioner. There had been 251,619 pensioners and still remain 197,000, and estimates show that it will require about $217,000,000 to satisfy them. The average age of these pensioners is only 41 years. Under the present system anyone willing to take a false oath can get a pension.

Sparks defended the act for the payment of pensions as one of justice.

Hubbell acknowledged that frauds might be committed under the law. There was some dispute as to the authorship of the bill and some sharp finger changes as to patriotism, etc. After rejecting some amendments the committee rose and reported the bill to the house and it passed.

Ten minutes recess took place during which Gen Grant was received with applause and handshaking, only a few northern democrats failing to take his hand. After recess Ladd obtained permission to print in the record his substitute for the funding bill. It appropriates of coin now in the treasury the sum of $100,000,000 for the payment of the interest bearing debt of the United States falling due during 1880 and 1881 and directs the secretary of the treasury to cause to be coined the maximum amount of dollars in the manner now authorized by law and to pay out such dollars in redemption of the public debt. Section two repeals all laws authorizing the issuing of bonds for the purpose of funding or redeeming the interest bearing debt of the United States.

Martin of West Virginia offered a resolution directing the committee of Pacific railroads to inquire into the alleged mortgage and sale of unearned land grants by the Northern Pacific and Atlantic and Pacific railroad companies and report what further measures necessary to preserve the interests of the country. Ordered printed on record. Adjourned.

Judge Whitton has formed a partnership in the practice of law in the Dalles with G. O. Holman, Esq., recently from Douglas county.

Emmet Bigham who was thrown from his horse near the Dalles several weeks ago, and injured so severely that his life was despaired of for a time, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to his father's home on Crab creek.

The Ochoco Pioneer gives an account of the brutal treatment by Wm. Noble, a rancher of Beaver creek, of his 16 years old daughter. The girl was forced to leave home and seek refuge at a friend's on Bridge creek. For two days she wandered through the country without food accompanied by a Newfoundland dog, afraid to take the road lest she should be captured by her cruel father. She at length succeeded in reaching friends who kindly cared for her.

Dalles Times: A. H. Simmons left the Dalles on the 10th day of October last, was riding a horse owned by him at the time and had $900 in his possession. He has not been heard of since and his family residing at Cold Spring Landing on the Columbia river 12 miles above Umatilla are anxious to learn his whereabouts. He has a wife and eight children at the above named place and they can learn nothing from him. The O. R. [illegible] have located their bridge across the Yamhill at Dayton and are pushing their grade forward as fast as possible. They have some 300 Chinamen at work. It is their intention to erect a sawmill about [illegible] below there and to get out all their own building timber and ties.

The school at North Yamhill has been dismissed on account of the prevalence of diphtheria.

The Willamette at Salem is 14 feet above low water mark.

GOV NEIL OF IDAHO TREATS OF THE SUBJECT

Why the Idaho Polygamists Cannot be Punished—Revision of United States and Territorial Laws Suggested.

BOISE CITY, Dec 16.—Governor Neil delivered his message last night before the two houses of the legislature [illegible] a large audience of ladies and gentlemen. It is a straightforward document. In speaking of polygamy the governor said that the evil is no longer confined [to Utah], but has spread into the adjoining territories, and Idaho has not escaped its blighting presence. Many practice in this territory are living in open and undisguised violation of the anti-polygamy act of congress and of the laws of Idaho relating to the same offense. The law of congress is inoperative for the reason that these plural marriages are contracted in Utah, the territory invariably in Salt Lake [illegible] the endowment house, consequently our courts have no jurisdiction under that act. Our statute has been found defective as a means of punishing polygamists for the reason that it is necessary under it to prove the ceremony. As before stated it is found to be impossible to prove the ceremony, being performed in a secret manner and all who witness or participate are bound by the most dreadful oaths to reveal nothing that transpires. There is good reason to believe that among other objectionable features of this unhallowed oath is an obligation which each participant is bound to observe to testify falsely when called upon to give evidence respecting the ceremony. In my opinion Idaho is in danger of becoming a second edition of Utah and that there is nothing which could affect her internal relations so injuriously as the dominance of her affairs by a licentious priesthood. I earnestly hope you may without delay adopt measures calculated to suppress and effectually crush out polygamy. All who now maintain and all who may hereafter enter into polygamous relations should be dealt with severely and rigorously. I also favor punishing those who advise persons to commit this offense and all who preach the so called doctrine to the people of this territory who have not surrendered their right to think and act for themselves, that all who abhor and detest the doctrine that the practice of polygamy is the only safe means of salvation. All who do not believe in sinking woman to the level of the beast but who demand that her present exalted position and sanctity be forever secured to her, all who do not believe in permitting the revival in our midst of the most indecent and disgusting practice of barbarous ages, and all who do believe in vindicating the law and in protecting and preserving our free institutions from the encroachments of those who hate and defy this nation—and they constitute a large majority of the people—all demand that this evil be no longer ignored but that it be completely and effectually uprooted. Congress should be memorialized to amend the act of 1862 so as to make polygamous cohabitation after marriage in another territory an offense and to change the rules of evidence so as to make such cohabitation proof of the offense thus giving our courts jurisdiction under that act. Our statutes relating to polygamy should be similarly amended, thus giving to the U. S. and territorial courts co-ordinate jurisdiction. In addition laws should be enacted providing severe penalties for the crime of lewd and lascivious cohabitation and that of adultery. These measures should be of general character so as to reach all who commit these offenses. If these measures are deemed insufficient to break up the practice of polygamy, I unhesitatingly announce myself in favor of disfranchising and disqualifying for office those who profess to a belief in this pernicious doctrine.

DAMMING A RIVER.

A Structure which is Nearly Two Miles in Length.

[From the San Francisco Chronicle.]

The Yuba river where it flows past the city of Marysville was once a deep and clear stream coursing its way between high banks; but it is now the very opposite. Debris from the river has obliterated its own banks, and now stretches a shallow, muddy stream of water two miles wide. Towns, villages and farming districts have been laid desolate by its ravages, orchards swept away and rich pasture lands covered with sand and mud to the depth of twenty feet. To stop the destruction of property by confining the waters to a narrower channel and causing them to deposit their slickens at some point higher up the stream became a matter of study.

Finally it was determined by the drainage commission to build a dam across the river at a point ten miles above Marysville, and to construct levees below that point, thereby checking in places the force of the current and compelling the dropping of the washings in the reservoir thus created. This task has been successfully accomplished. The dam was completed on Wednesday. It is 11,000 feet in length and is joined to the bank on the north and a levee on the south by curved wings six hundred feet in length. It consists of brush, wire and logs and presents on its down stream face a perpendicular front from five to twelve feet high, composed of the jagged butt ends of countless saplings, small trees and logs like stringers and rafters beneath a floor. On the upriver side it presents a face of gentle slope from the top to the river bed composed of alternate layers of young willow trees cut in full foliage laid top down and very thickly, and interspersed by horizontal layers of heavy logs. On top of these trees is a layer of long logs parallel with the brush and placed closely together along the entire crown of the dam. On top of all is sand from two or three feet in depth and graded to a gentle slope to meet the river bed. At the base the dam is from 65 to 75 feet wide.

WRINKLED FACES.

It is a painful sight to see young ladies in their teens with wrinkled and prematurely old faces, nevertheless it is quite common, and to any one who observes the tendency of the times the reason is very apparent. Owing to flaming advertisements and bogus certificates in which are used the names of eminent physicians and chemists the unsuspecting and credulous have been induced to use some of the so called liquid beautifiers, all of which are known to be positively injurious and if used for any length of time will destroy the complexion so that it will be next to impossible to restore it. Mothers should be very careful to see that their daughters do not use these preparations but ask for and obtain Slavin's Harmless Yosemite Face Powder, the only harmless beautifier. [J]ohn Brown of Woodburn, Marion county, killed a hog last week that weighed 611 pounds, the heaviest being 607 pounds.

[illegible] of Clackamas county killed three two [illegible] hogs a few days ago, the aggregate weight of which was 1000 pounds, the heaviest weighing [illegible] pounds.

A fine new fence has been constructed around the Odd Fellows cemetery at Oregon City. The work was done jointly by the subordinate lodges and the Rebecca degree lodge, but principally by the latter body.

Enterprise: Senator McCarver had a very narrow escape last Friday night from having a serious conflagration. As usual he left a lamp burning on a stand near the bed, which by some means was knocked from the [illegible] floor. He was awakened by the noise and jumped out of bed, but the carpet instantly caught fire and the oil was on fire in the lamp. He [illegible] the lamp and threw it out where it remained but a minute before it exploded. He put out the fire and then congratulated himself that the lamp did not burst in his hands.

Mr Rogers who has recently been engaged cutting wood around Oregon City, a few days ago accidentally stumbled on a cache of very old Indian implements. They were found in the crevices of a [illegible] rock and were but lightly covered. There were six of them altogether and are old Indian knives made of flint. The dimensions are as follows: [illegible] to 8½ [illegible] and in length and varying from [illegible] to 2½ inches in breadth. They are all made out of flint, the color of which can more easily be described by comparing it to the color of diluted black ink except one which is beautifully mottled with streaks of red. Only two are mutilated, but not sufficiently so to destroy their value. One or two of them are only pointed and sharpened at one end and are furnished with notches at the other end for the purpose of fastening them on to a handle. The others are pointed at both ends and seemingly would make good implements for dissecting salmon or skinning a deer. [illegible] Stevens is now the owner of five of them and Dr. [illegible] of the other one.

Washington Territory

Parties coming down from Cedar river Tuesday report the highest stage of water ever seen by the oldest settlers during the past few days, but it had fallen several inches.

The Port Gamble Mill Company will soon commence the building of a large store near the site of the one recently burned. It will not be so much over the water as the old store, and will be furnished in first class style.

The deed filed with the county auditor by the Puget Sound and Columbia Railroad Company embraces the largest consideration of an instrument ever filed for record in King county, it being for $300,000 and covers thirty folios legal cap.

Judge Burke rendered his decision in the Geo. D. Hill King county contested election case Tuesday verbally. He held that Capt. Hill was ineligible to hold the office of county treasurer, on the ground that he is a retired officer of the army of the United States. The case will be appealed to the district court as provided by law.

Seattle Post: Sixty thousand dollars came over from Portland last week through Wells Fargo & Co's express and was addressed to A. A. Denny, president of the S. & W. W. R. R. Co. The largest portion of this sum was paid out to parties in this city. About $34,000 was for the bonds held here and the balance will be paid for bills and accounts against the old company.

Intelligencer: Two gentlemen of Seattle being desirous of putting some money into city property and to improve the same, offered Mr. Yesler $32,500 for his residence property being 115 feet on Front street and 140 on Mill street. He has repeatedly been offered $20,000 for this property but the proposition made to him yesterday was far ahead of any former tender. It is not known whether Mr. Yesler will accept or not, but if he should, the old corner would soon present a very different appearance in a business point of view.

MARCHING ON LIMA.

TEN THOUSAND CHILIAN TROOPS AT PISCO.

The Peruvians Preparing to Harrass the March—Blockade Raised at Ancon.

PANAMA, Dec. 8.—The long expected Chilian advance on Lima is at last an actuality. Nov. 12th eighteen vessels, all war vessels or armed transports except four sailing vessels which were towed, appeared off Pisco. The Angamos and two other vessels steamed into the harbor, the former approaching the mole as closely as possible and sent officers ashore who demanded the surrender of the place which was refused. Fire was at once opened from the ships and was returned by the Peruvian force on shore. There were only 1200 men commanded by Col. Zamudio. The landing at Pisco was resisted so hotly that most of the Chilians landed at Paracas, about ten miles distant, and immediately marched on Pisco, almost surrounding Zamudio's small force. That officer, hopeless of further defense without the sacrifice of his entire force, retired after blowing up the shore section of the wharf and destroying other property to prevent its falling into Chilian hands. The rolling stock of the Pisco Railroad was burned, a severe loss to English bondholders. The Peruvian loss in the fight is placed at 150 men and the Chilian loss at thrice that number. The Chilian force landed consisted of the 3d and 4th regiments of 1200 men each, the Coquimbo, Lalca, Chacabuco, Chalaco and Atacama regiments of 1200 men each, a naval brigade of 900 men and 500 artillery and cavalry, making in all 10,000 men. The transports having landed the troops returned to Arica for further reinforcements which will be landed nearer Lima, probably at Cerro Azula and thence move on to the capital. Pisco is 136 miles from Lima and 70 from Cerro Azula.

The force landed at Pisco will probably occupy all the towns in Ica valley and then enter Canete valley which they will probably make their base of operations.

The march to Lima will be resisted step by step. To this end three divisions left Lima on the night of the 19th. They have with them 85 pieces of artillery. Every post of advantage will be occupied and the advance harrassed and opposed to the utmost. The road the invaders have to traverse is particularly unfavorable for such purpose, abounding in ravines and passes easily defensible by resolute soldiery and affording almost certainly numerous opportunities for administering checks to the invaders. The force lately landed has not yet begun its advance, though a battalion of Chilian cavalry was reported on the road 18 miles from Pisco. The port of Ancon has been open several weeks, and many families are availing themselves of this opportunity of leaving Lima. Five thousand tons of freight are awaiting shipment. The Pacific Steam Navigation Co.'s steamers are running extra trips to Chimbote, to carry away the extraordinary traffic there offering, before the Chilians resume the blockade.

CANADA.

A Serious Accident.

MONTREAL, Dec 16.—At St. Henri village to-day by the sudden collapse of a large wooden and brick house several workmen were buried. One named Taylor was taken out dead with both arms and a leg broken and his body terribly bruised. Councillor LeBlanc was internally and a number of others were slightly injured.

Condemnation of the Canadian Railway.

OTTAWA, Dec 16.—At an opposition caucus held to-day it is said that a manifesto of the people of Canada in connection with the Canada Pacific Railway was under consideration. It is expected to appear in the press throughout the country to-morrow. An immense number will be printed and copies mailed at once to every elector in the dominion. The document, it is said, will contain the nature of a proposition which the government have brought down, describe the manner in which they refuse information necessary to intelligent discussion of contracts and strongly condemns the extravagant price to be paid. It demands immediate withdrawal.

SIGNS of CATARRH.
No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady curses mankind. One-fifth of our Children die of diseases generated by its Infectious Poison, and one-fourth of living men and women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While asleep, the impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.
Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the farthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at any stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment, has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

SECRETARY SCHURZ ON THE INDIAN QUESTION.

That portion of the report of Secretary Schurz which discusses the Indian question deserves more attention from the press than has hitherto been given it. We had only a brief summary of it by telegraph, which hardly did justice to its comprehensive excellence. Some of the eastern newspapers attack it as wanting in humanitarian spirit toward the Indians. Others, as the New York Herald, treat it as a new and wise departure in our Indian policy. With this last view the people of the west, who are brought in contact with the Indians, will be disposed to agree, since the secretary substitutes the suggestions of practical common sense for the sentimental palpitations of those who seem to regard the Indian as a superior creature on account of his very vices and brutalities. And yet Mr. Schurz is not wanting in proper humanity. He proposes to improve and civilize the Indian, not to exterminate the race. To accomplish this it is necessary to change our methods of dealing with the Indians—methods which we adopted when the conditions of the problem were vastly different from those which now exist. "All the great facts which bear on the Indian question," the Herald justly says, "have been changed. Our former Indian policy was more or less suited to the circumstances which existed at the time of its adoption. But it never worked well except for short periods. The changes in it from time to time under the pressure of new exigencies have been makeshifts which the progress of events soon outgrew." The time has passed when the Indians could live by the chase. They must raise crops and herds, or starve. It is apparent that the reservation system, under which the Indians are herded in common, is not suited to the changed conditions that have isolated all the reservations, from which the Indians can no longer go forth to obtain subsistence by taking game, fish, and the natural products of the country. All those natural sources of subsistence are cut off. The pressure of enterprising white settlers into the western country has annihilated them. The philosophy which is to govern the Indian, like that which controls the white man's existence, is resolving itself rapidly into the alternative expressed in the homely phrase, "Root hog, or die." Secretary Schurz has the penetration to see that the Indians can battle with life under the new conditions only by dissolving their tribal relations, abandoning the reservation system, and seeking the advantages of individual property in land. Only in this way can they be led to methodical industry, and only in this way can their industry be made available. The Herald says again: "The reservation policy cannot last in opposition to the unanimous will of the powerful communities which are growing up in the west. Nobody perceives this so clearly as Secretary Schurz, because nobody of equal intelligence has so carefully studied the Indian question in the light of new and emerging facts. But all reflecting men must ultimately adopt his conclusions, unless they prefer the extinction of the Indian tribes."

The secretary says, frankly, that when he took charge of the department over which he presides the opinion generally prevailed that it was best for the Indians to be gathered together upon a few reservations where they could be kept out of contact with the white population. He virtually admits that he himself entertained this view; but more extensive observation and experience have convinced him that it is a mistaken policy. He sees that maintenance of the system of large reservations against the pressure of white immigration and settlement is becoming impracticable. Hence he urges a policy which will introduce among the Indians the various kinds of work necessary to their condition, which will inspire them with a sense of individual responsibility through the ownership of private property, and build up in them a spirit of growing dependence for their support upon their own efforts. But in his opinion success in these directions depends on abandonment of the present system and the distribution of the lands in severalty, with sale for the benefit of the Indians of all surplus lands. Such policy, he argues, will for the first time secure to them fixed homes under protection of the same law under which white men hold theirs; it will eventually open to settlement by white men the large tracts of land now belonging to the reservations but not used by the Indians; it will put the relations between the whites and Indians on a new basis, by gradually doing away with the system which has so frequently provoked those encroachments that in the past have led to so much injustice and cruelty, and so many disastrous collisions.

It is highly encouraging to find this subject stated and argued with so much practical clearness and judgment by an official in the high position occupied by Mr. Schurz. It affords another proof of the solid qualities of mind which have given him high distinction among his countrymen. He has outlined the policy which must be accepted as the policy of the future, if the Indians are not to perish utterly under a system which keeps them in perpetual tutelage, and never can teach them self-dependence and the necessity of individual effort and responsibility which lies at the bottom of all human development and progress.

The proposed "joint rule" for counting the electoral vote, which is being debated in congress is substantially this: "If any state sends but one set of electoral certificates they shall be counted, unless both houses reject them; and when there are two sets of electors both houses must concur on one of them, or the vote of the state shall be rejected." Such a rule, it is plain, would give a partisan majority in the two houses power to set aside the plainly declared electoral will of the people. For instance, if for any trumped-up reason the two houses, in each of which there is now a democratic majority, should decide to reject the vote of New York, Garfield and Arthur would have no electoral majority, and the election would then go to the house of representatives. The proposed joint rule is a scheme for some villainy of this kind. Bourbonism would do well to subside and not trouble the country further. When an election is once fully and fairly decided, no scheme to upset it will be tolerated.

John I. Davenport, who has been following up the threads of testimony in the Morey letter forgery, has been promising revelations in relation thereto, based on his discoveries, which it has been whispered would prove a "thunderbolt" when the time was ripe for the disclosures. The secret is now out that this thunderbolt is a declaration that testimony has been secured to fasten the guilt of the letter upon Chairman Barnum, who has been shadowed by detectives for weeks past. From the first it has been the well based presumption in political circles that Barnum was the real culprit in this case. He is now in Colorado, looking after his mining interests, which are about as crooked as his political business. The Bull Domingo mine at Silver Cliff, of which he seems to be the managing head, is a constant source of litigation and freeze-out for the minor interests.

Several more of our territories are soon to be erected into states. Dakota, New Mexico and Washington may all come in together. The Salt Lake Tribune sadly says that Utah might soon join the same bright company except for two things. Utah gives to a creed a higher allegiance than it does to the republic, and that creed seeks to make a practice a religious sacrament which in all other states and territories is held to be a felony. And so states glisten all around Utah, but Utah remains a territory. Directly on the line of the great overland road, Utah breaks the chain of states. It will not get in as a member of the union till it gives up this relic of barbarism. The people of the United States do not intend to allow Utah to throw over polygamy and its concomitant crimes the protection of state sovereignty.

Abraham Lincoln is now politically canonized; and there is an imbecile idea that any who differed with him must have been wrong; but his administration was very unpopular in the party on which it had to depend for support, and which did support it with great patriotism to the country. A large part of his disheartening situation was owing to his attempt to combine the rival candidates and party leaders in one happy family. This example, the Cincinnati Gazette thinks, should be a warning to all presidents.

CITY.

[illegible] COLLISION.—Wednesday [illegible] a disastrous collision occurred on the [illegible] R. & N. Co. road, a short distance below Bla[illegible], between a passenger and a construction train. The passenger train was dispatched [illegible] in connection with the steamer [illegible]. The engineer on the passenger train was told to keep a sharp lookout for the construction train, which was known to be on the road at the time. This admonition the engineer heeded until he reached a point where he expected to meet the construction train. As the train was not there the engineer supposed that the men were at dinner, so he cautiously—going at the rate of [illegible] an hour—and kept a sharp lookout for it. Just as the passenger train reached [illegible] located near a sharp curve the [illegible] distinctly saw the construction train [illegible] around the point and coming down at a [illegible] rate. Both engineers, apprehending the [illegible], both called for brakes with a [illegible] that startled the passengers and roused [illegible]. But these vigorous efforts were [illegible]. The rate of speed at which both trains were [illegible] and their proximity when the discovery was made rendered a collision unavoidable. Seeing that it could not be averted, the engineers and firemen jumped from the locomotives just an instant before they met. The trains were moving at the rate of about 12 miles an hour when they struck. The locomotives leaped partially over the [illegible], smashing the headgear and lighter portions of [illegible]. Several of the construction cars [illegible] from the track and falling [illegible] were crushed. Several of the cars were badly jammed and broken. Fortunately none of the passengers were injured, although [illegible] pretty badly shaken up by the collision. The engineers, in jumping, struck violently, sustaining several deep cuts and bruises. [illegible] say, neither locomotive was thrown [illegible]. The passenger coaches were at the rear of the train, several freight cars being ahead, and escaped with comparatively little damage. The [illegible] company will reach several thousand dollars. A force of men were sent to the scene, the [track has] been cleared and trains are running as

CRIMINAL VIOLATION OF LAW.—The grand [jury of the] United States district court returned a [illegible] in the case of United States vs. Col. George [illegible] yesterday morning, charging the de[fendant with] violating section 5511 of the revised [statutes]. In the return of the indictment it was or[dered that a] bench warrant issue at once; also that [he] be admitted to bail in the sum of $500. [Specifically] the indictment charged that Col. Gil[lespie], on the 7th day of June, 1880, in the district [of Oregon] and within the jurisdiction of the United [States district] court, without having a right to vote, he being then and there a soldier in the United States, stationed in Oregon, and [having] no residence therein, did vote at a [illegible] in Western precinct, in the city of [Portland] for a representative in the congress of the [United States], contrary to the statutes of the same. [illegible] served with the warrant by the deputy marshal, Col. Gillespie accompanied [him] to the court. When apprised [of the charge] preferred by the indictment the [accused] entered a plea of guilty, and waiving [illegible], was sentenced by Judge Deady to pay [a fine] and costs. Col. Gillespie immediately [illegible] and was discharged. Col. Gil[lespie states] that he acted on the advice of an at[torney] and was surprised to find that he had vio[lated the law]. Of course it was a mistake of judg[ment] [illegible] intent to do a thing which the [illegible].—To-morrow (Saturday) evening, the [drama] "True Blue, or Brother against [Brother]" will be presented at New Market theater. [illegible] will be for the benefit of the Wash[ington Guard], the oldest military organization in [the city]. The company sustained a heavy loss by [the fire which] destroyed their armory, from which [they have not] yet recovered. The funds derived [illegible] will be applied toward the [illegible] and getting the company on [its feet] again. The members of the [illegible] have generously volunteered to assist [in making the] benefit a substantial one. The piece [will be produced] with a full cast. There will be [illegible] attractive features, tableaux and [illegible]

BRIEF NOTES.

Read the new ads.

Quite cool up the Columbia.

State circuit court will convene on Monday.

[illegible] wind [illegible] beginning to [illegible] line.

The steamship Columbia will sail from San Francisco this morning.

Two indictments were returned yesterday by the United States grand jury.

The Catholic Library Association received another addition of books to supply its members with reading matter for the long winter evenings.

Portland to stranger: "We always have a south wind here." [illegible] "But I see the wind right now is from the north." [illegible] "that's the south wind coming back, you know." Ah.

The snow in the Klickitat valley was not as deep as it was around The Dalles, it being an average of about two feet deep. At last reports cattle were doing as well as could be expected, but sheep were suffering very much.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Dayton Hall & Lamberson have just received a splendid stock of skates of every variety.

Mrs. Pilger, No. 153 First street, has made a reduction in prices for the next 30 days: $30 suits for $18, $25 suits for $15, etc. See ad.

Attention is called to the elegant stock of albums now on exhibition at Simon Harris', Lamond block. Inducements are given to those wishing anything in that line.

Albert Bartsch is direct agent for Steinway & Sons' celebrated grand, square and upright pianos. These pianos command the highest premiums at all world's exhibitions. Warerooms No. 33, Morrison street, near the postoffice.

J. K. Gill & Co. have received per steamers State of California and Oregon splendid additions to their already fine stock of fine gift books, Russia leather articles, gold pens and pencils, bronze and cut-glass inkstands and the finest selection of stationery ever offered.

Mellis Bros. & Co., No. 126 First street, will to-night give their grand holiday exhibition. The store will be closed from 5 to 7 P. M. for the purpose of arranging the display which promises to be the finest in their line ever shown in the city. No goods will be sold. Every visitor will receive a memento of the occasion.

J. F. D. Wrinkle & Co., corner 1st and Salmon, are in the midst of their general closing out sale of woolen goods. They intend to carry no winter goods into next season, and to secure early disposal of their heavy stock offer every article at astonishingly low rates. A partial list of prices will be found under "new to-day," to which every lady reader is invited.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

[Advocate and Sentinel.]

This week is the Ember week.

Rev. G. W. Grannis, P. E. of Grande Ronde and Boise River district, reports 1355 miles travel by private conveyance on his first round.

Rev. Father Dols returned to his mission in Gervais, and calculates to make extensive renovations throughout his whole mission next spring.

Rev. Father Nattini lately arrived in Boise City, with the intention of taking charge of that vast mission. We extend our best wishes to the good father.

Mrs. Pilger, whose popular establishment is so liberally patronized, has reduced ready made suits from $30 to $18, and from $25 to $15. Be certain to call early.

Rev. Ferguson, of Clear Creek circuit, reports to us that his work is prospering. He has increased the number of appointments on his charge from four to sixteen.

We learn from the San Francisco Monitor that Rev. E. M. Coyle died on the 3d inst. at St. Mary's hospital, from typhoid fever. He was assistant pastor of St. Francis' church of that city.

Rev. J. H. Wilbur is noticed as follows in the Council Fire of Washington City for November: "James H. Wilbur, Indian agent of Yakima, is in the city and favors the Council Fire with frequent calls."

The number of confirmations administered by Archbishop Seghers during his recent Episcopal tour of this archdiocese is classified as follows: Western Oregon, that is west of the Cascades, 503; eastern Oregon, 81; Idaho, 89; Montana, 350. Total, 823.

PERSONAL.

Mr. George F. Heilman, a member of the graduating class last year from the high school, has been appointed purser of the O. R. & N. Co.'s steamer Champion, on the Upper Willamette.

Note the display of albums in the show window of Simon Harris. Prices all marked.

Mrs. H. B. Stowe's new novel "Sam Lawson," price $1 50, just received at J. K. Gill & Co's.

It's not astonishing at all that Woods the hatter sells most of the hats that's sold in Portland. His stock is the finest.

A handsome Christmas present for young ladies and youths is the little revolving parlor billiard table seen in the window of the Oregon Furniture Co.

LOOK HERE.—Chestnuts, grapes, gold fish, pampas grasses and candies at S. L. Stone's.

Buy your wife a sewing machine, and recollect Barbey, 32 Yamhill street. For cash, cheap.

Holton House Restaurant, under Tornado & Co.'s management. First class table. Rooms for ladies.

IN THE LEAD.—Our old friend Frank, of the ever popular St. Charles Restaurant. Best Meals in city.

Sarah—Where did you buy that elegant stem wind or gold watch? Lily—I bought it of Uncle Myers, 181 First street.

"A Dream of Fair Women," price $5 at J. K. Gill & Co's.

The Royal St. John Sewing Machine agency has been removed to 167 Third street, bet. Morrison and Alder. John B. Garrison, agent.

Christmas Tree trimmings of every description. Special rates to Church and Sunday School Festivals. Send address early from the country to Postoffice Candy Store, Multnomah Building, opp. P. O.

While it is open weather an advantageous opportunity offers itself to hesitating ones. We surely will have more cold weather, and yourself and the boys will need warmer clothing. Wait no longer, but go at once to Beck & Waldman's. Here is a chance seldom offered.

Go to Keith's for your oysters.

THE ART SALE.

The auction sale of oil paintings at Masonic Hall last evening was attended by a large crowd of ladies and gentlemen, but the bidding was not as spirited as should be expected, judging from the merit of the paintings. There is another sale this afternoon at 2 o'clock and this evening at 7. This is a rare opportunity at your own price, as the sale is bona fide. Everything offered is sold for what is bid on it and nothing reserved. A visit to the gallery at the 2 o'clock sale to-day will pay all lovers of art.

BEAVERTON
Homestead Tract

FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS,

In Parcels of from One to Twenty Acres.

About 700 Acres of Choice Garden, Pasture and Grain Land in the Growing and Thriving Township of Beaverton.

It is distant from Portland about six miles by the Canyon road, one of the [illegible] roads leading out of Portland. The distance by the Westside Railway is about [illegible] miles. The property adjoins the railway depot.

The land is closely level, [illegible] with gentle undulations, which are destined to be occupied with villa residences as Beaverton grows in favor as a suburban retreat.

The soil is of unrivalled richness, and repays the gardener's toil with fabulous yields of vegetables and fruits.

We invite those who desire to secure a self-supporting homestead, charmingly situated, with easy access to the city by road or rail, to

MAKE AN EARLY SELECTION.

To the industrious gardener one or two acres will afford an ample livelihood.

To the dairy farmer no situation can be more advantageous or accessible.

FOR SUBURBAN HOMES

The convenience, healthfulness and beauty of the situation cannot fail to make the location a favorable one.

For full particulars apply to

CLARK & UPTON,

THURSDAY EVENING, DEC. 16.

The local money market remains close as last reported. Funds sent to the country in advances on wheat and on the lines of railroad have not yet returned; and to this is due the prevailing stringency.

There is still nothing doing in the local wheat market. Farmers are unwilling to sell at ruling prices and shippers are not anxious to buy with no immediate prospect for securing tonnage. The few transactions are on the basis of $1 40 per cental, and with free offerings by farmers this rate could not be maintained.

There has been no developement of importance in the tonnage market. The iron ship "Earl Derby," calling off the heads at San Francisco yesterday for orders, was directed toward this port and will probably be in by the last of next week. Laidlaw & Co., have invited bids for her; 82s 6d has been asked for her. It is understood that 77s 6d has been refused. It is reported that the ship "Glenpruin," under charter to Rogers, Meyer & Co., is off the bar. Her cargo has not been engaged but it is said that she will be filled with flour.

Approaching Competition in Eastern Freights.

The circulars recently issued by the Southern Pacific to the freight shippers of the state, announcing that the road would be open to traffic by the beginning of 1881, seem in a fair way to be fulfilled. The completion of the road as far as Rio Mimbres brought it to the "home stretch." Only about 80 miles intervene between this point and El Paso, where the junction between the Southern Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe is designed to take place. The Southern Pacific reached Rio Mimbres, 220 miles east of Tucson, and 1200 miles east of San Francisco, in the last week of November, and was then only about 20 miles from a junction with the New Mexico branch. The Texas Pacific, which also expects to meet the Southern Pacific at El Paso, was at that date 140 miles west of Fort Worth. By the beginning of December the Southern Pacific track had reached a point 23 miles east of Rio Mimbres. The Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe is working with quite a keen rivalry as to which shall reach El Paso first. The eastern road is still about 120 miles from El Paso, while the western one is only sixty miles; but the latter has been delayed by lack of steel rails.

A San Francisco paper commenting on facts above stated says:

Those bits of news about the great paths of commerce, rapidly approaching junction, recalls the time, more than a decade past, when the Central and Union Pacific roads were approaching each other, with a world looking on and applauding, until the first engines touched pilots, amid ringing of bells and excitement on both sides of the continent. The comparative quietness with which an equally great enterprise is being brought to completion is a significant indication of the vast advance in commerce that our country has made in the past decade. It is no longer anything to stare at, to ring bells, make speeches, and write poetry about, that railroads should be built from coast to coast; it is plain business enterprise, to be rejoiced over on business, not on sentimental grounds.

If the first transcontinental road had, therefore, the advantage on sentimental grounds, the freight shippers of the state are hoping that the advantage on business grounds will fall to the second—the advantage, we mean, conferred by it on the state, rather than that enjoyed by itself. It is hardly possible to imagine a road better situated for making profit than the Central Pacific; but conferring benefits, a rival road is better situated. This coming road not only opens up a passage eastward to the great south, central and southern regions of California, but also offers to a much wider range in interests the advantage of competition.

MARK LANE REPORT

Review of the English Breadstuffs Market.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The Mark Lane Express says: Continued mild weather has been advantageous to agriculture, but unseasonable mildness will prove a wholesome check to the rapid growth of early sown wheat. English grain trade has been materially smaller and everything cheaper, whilst some descriptions were nominally unchanged. At the beginning of the week the demand for wheat and flour was very slow, both in London and in the provinces. Both declined a shilling, and still further Wednesday. Friday there was practically nothing doing, and wheats were difficult to sell. The prospective supply of wheat is larger, and there appears to be indications of values lowering. During the week prices for wheat and flour declined one to two shillings both in London and in the provinces.

The foreign grain was depressed throughout the week. The supply in London was much smaller, but there was considerable increase in breadstuffs afloat. An increase in visible supply in American and large receipts from India have weakened the position of holders. The cargo trade off coast declined steadily until Friday when a better demand for American red winter was manifested, and its value improved 3d. On Saturday foreign breadstuffs in all positions afloat were weak. The spot supply was consumed slowly at a shilling to two shillings reduction for all descriptions of new wheat. Foreign flour was carefully taken at a reduction of a shilling to a shilling and six pence. Heavy barleys were in liberal supply at most of the provincial exchanges, but trade has been inanimate. Throughout the country, prices continue to decline, but the lowest point has not yet been reached. Grinding and distilling sorts were reduced six pence to a shilling and secondary qualities considerably more. Bright malting samples, however, which are rare, were unchanged. The same may be said of foreign barley. For oats there has been a restricted demand. Light sorts were cheaper; foreign steady and unchanged. Maize, notwithstanding that both supply and quantity on passage were smaller, ruled weak and spot declined 6d to 9d the same Monday, trade probably being influenced by a decline in American markets. Sales of English wheat during the week 41,766 quarters at 45s 1d per quarter, against 41,608 quarters at 46s 2d per quarter for corresponding week last year. Imports into the United Kingdom for the week ending Dec. 4th, 1,441,360 cwts wheat and 315,201 cwts flour.
